

APPENDIX 4

REASSESSING THE QUEENSLAND MUSEUM MACGREGOR REGISTER

SUSAN M. DAVIES AND MICHAEL QUINNELL

The Register of the 'MacGregor' Collection of New Guinea Ethnology (Queensland Museum 1915-2001) (hereafter MacGregor Register) was introduced in 1915 to record MacGregor's Official collection of Papuan Ethnology in the Queensland Museum (QM). Originally numbering nearly 11,000 items, the assemblage had been reduced to around 8,414 items following the distribution of c. 2,481 duplicates in 1897¹ and other outwards exchanges and transfers between 1894 and 1910 (see Davies 2022). Forensic analyses summarised in the following Tables 1-5 reveal, however, that more than 1,000 items from unrelated collections were entered into the MacGregor Register from 1918. The data presented in these tables is intended to help identify which objects were mistakenly associated with material acquired by MacGregor for the Official collection. These objects were derived from at least 19 different collections which the QM had acquired between 1880 and 1901 (Table 1).

How so many objects from unrelated collections came to be included in a register designed to document the Official collection is discussed at length in Davies (2022). The continued registrations of unrelated objects after 1979 is entangled with decision-making processes associated with the repatriation of MacGregor items to the Papua New Guinea National Museum and Art Gallery (PNGNMAG) (Quinnell, 2000:96). While we acknowledge that the QM database (Vernon) notes that many objects originate from a source other than MacGregor, there is still the potential for items to be mistaken as belonging to the 'MacGregor' collection (i.e., Official collection). The issue is highlighted by a group of several hundred arrows which for more than 100 years have been mistaken as part of a consignment from MacGregor which was designated Transfer 52. They originate from several unrelated acquisitions which the museum received between 1880 and 1890 (these arrows currently appear on the Vernon database as Transfer 52 items). Because of the issues outlined above, we felt it necessary to provide a full record of the items in the MacGregor Register which are not part of the Official collection and to detail those without previous registration history.

Registration numbers are key to verifying whether an object is part of the Official collection or some other museum acquisition. Determining the status of an object (Official collection or not) required a manual check of every single registration number relating to ethnology in the MacGregor Register. The column in the register called ‘References to Papers’ provides particulars of previous museum registration numbers and consequently the data in this column was crossed-checked against earlier museum registers and the Vernon database. Previously allocated registration numbers were then traced through the Ethnology Register, New Guinea (Queensland Museum c.1889-1910) (hereafter ER NG Register), a document which contains various Papuan collections which the museum acquired between 1880 and 1910 and the primary registration record of the Official collection (see Davies 2022). Registration numbers in the ER NG Register which we propose are not connected to MacGregor consignments are summarized in Table 2.

Manual checking revealed that approximately 1016 objects in the MacGregor Register were not acquired as part of the Official collection (Table 3). As already noted, registration numbers are key to confirming whether an object is associated with the Official collection or not. In the absence of these, labels can also be used to link an object to a particular museum collection as demonstrated in Davies et al. (2022a; 2022b Appendix 5). Equally important are contemporary annotations about an object’s history noted in either the ER NG Register or the MacGregor Register. Such details are included in Table 3 so that researchers can easily follow the train of evidence back to the primary source document. Since this sort of information is not always included in Vernon, readers are encouraged to use the data provided below to verify an object’s history and status. Indeed, a number of items currently indicated as part of Transfer 28 in Vernon lack supporting documentation. We propose that these items be rechecked for distinctive Transfer 28 labelling (e.g., square-shaped paper label with serrated edges; red crayon ‘T28’ or rectangular-shaped metal tag with T28 impressed) to confirm Transfer 28 status.

Table 4 provides a list of c. 337 items in the MacGregor Register without prior registration history (i.e., registration number is either illegible or missing). The status of these objects is uncertain because without a registration number they cannot be connected to MacGregor consignments associated with the Official collection (Transfers: 46, 47, 52, 55, 60, 68, 70, 74). It is likely that a proportion of those lacking original registration numbers belong to the Official collection, but at the moment we are not in the position to confirm their status. A study of labelling associated with these objects may help to establish whether they form part of the assemblage deposited by MacGregor between 1892-98. These objects currently appear in Vernon as part of the MacGregor collection (i.e., Official collection) but a few may have been re-registered into the Register of Ethnology (E Register) (Queensland Museum 1911 ongoing).

ABBREVIATIONS USED IN TABLES 1-4

BNG – British New Guinea

Collection Register (Queensland Museum 1884-1899)

ER NG Register refers to the Ethnology Register, New Guinea (Queensland Museum c.1889-1910).

General Catalogue refers to the General Catalogue (Queensland Museum 1883-1887).

MacGregor Register refers to the Register of the 'MacGregor' Collection of New Guinea Ethnology (Queensland Museum 1915-2001).

ER prefix The use of an ER prefix before a registration number (e.g., ER8700) reflects current Queensland Museum collection management practice. The 'ER' does not appear on objects or in the Ethnology Register, New Guinea (Queensland Museum c.1889-1910).

indicates that a registration number has been duplicated.

The use of a 'MAC' prefix before a number indicates a registration number assigned to an object in the MacGregor Register. Current Queensland Museum collection management practice uses the prefix 'MAC' in the museum database (Vernon) rather than the prefix 'Mac' which appears in the MacGregor Register (Queensland Museum 1915-2001). Objects accessioned into the register between 1915 and 1920 (MAC1-6314) are physically numbered with a 'Mac' prefix. In around 1965, museum numbering practices changed and the prefix 'M' was used instead of 'Mac' (Michael Quinnell, Pers. Comm., May 2021). Consequently, objects registered between c. 1966 and 2001 will have an 'M' prefix written before the number (e.g., M7308).

MQ Michael Quinnell, Queensland Museum, Curator of Anthropology, 1968-2008

RGSA Royal Geographical Society of Australasia Expedition, 1885

'T' before a number indicates a QM transfer number (e.g., T28 or Transfer 28).

'P' before a number indicates a QM purchase number (e.g., P146 or Purchase 146).

‘C’ before a number indicates a collection number in the Collection Register (Queensland Museum 1884-1899).

‘D’ before a number indicates a donation number recorded in either the Donor Register (Queensland Museum 1882-1887) or Donor Register (Queensland Museum 1887-1899).

Table 2. Registration numbers in the Ethnology Register (New Guinea) (Queensland Museum c.1889-1910) not associated with the Official collection.

Registration no.	Notes
ER7862-8688	Largely represents re-registrations of items from various collections which the QM had acquired between 1880 and 1890. Some had been previously registered in the General Catalogue . Appears to also comprise the first registration of Transfer 28 objects
ER11715-11781	Comprises objects from: Baird (1881 collection); Browne (1884: Donation 1351) RGSA 1885; Lawrie (Collection 18, 1885); Browne (1886: Purchase 34 [42?]); Transfer 28 (1889)
ER13476-14186	Arrows (14376-14184); Bundle of Arrow points (14185) and one bow (14186). Later mistaken for Transfer 52. Two arrows within range (13931-2) originate from Purari River and thus are associated with Official collection. The remainder of the arrows appear to represent registrations from various collections which the museum acquired between 1880 and 1890
ER14251-14286; 14288-14296	Contains some objects from Purchase 63; Transfer 28; Transfer 12; Collection 18 (Lawrie). 14287 is an adze from Collingwood Bay, a locality only associated with the Official collection
ER14381; 14282#-14288# (14282-88# are duplicated registration numbers; should have been 14382-14388); 14293#	Registration numbers in this range appear to originate from a variety of QM collections not associated with MacGregor. Some are either marked T28 (14381; 14284#) or are missing (14282#, 14283#, 14288#). Of the missing group, the sago paddle (14282#) was reputedly labelled Milne Bay. This locality is associated with MacGregor consignment T52 and non-MacGregor QM collections (T28 and C105). Since 14282# is missing its association with MacGregor cannot be confirmed (hence it is omitted from the Master List (Davies et al. 2022c, Appendix 2). The canoe carving registered 14285# (MAC4600) has since been re-registered E9623 indicating that it is not associated with MacGregor consignments. Canoe carving 14286# (MAC4629) cannot be definitively connected to MacGregor consignments because similar types of objects are connected with T28 (Douglas). Fish traps (14287# and 14288#) from the Fly River could originate from RGSA 1885 collection although further research may prove otherwise. 14293# (basket) is without locality and thus cannot be connected to MacGregor consignments

ER14294#-14309#	Purchase 139 (Isles, Love & Co.; 23 July 1895: 123 July 1895); 14294#-14309# are duplicated registration numbers
ER14684-14867	14864 (Tryon: Donation 8772); 14865-14867 are from Purchase 146 (Hartmann)
ER18672-18690	Likely represent items from various collections held by the museum
ER18718-18719	Cannot link to the Official collection
ER19701-19832	Includes items from various acquisitions, including Purchase 332; Purchase 341; Donations 11056 and 11206 (Barton, 1901); Donation 13109 (1906); Donation 13747 (1907); Purchase 848 (Phillips 1908); 19773-19774 (missing but annotated 'Geo Soc Exp.' - these could be part of the Official collection)

APPENDIX 4 TABLE 5: LOCALITY DISCREPANCIES

SUSAN M. DAVIES

Table 5 provides a list of discrepancies in the locality given between entries in the Ethnology Register (New Guinea) (Queensland Museum c.1889-1910) and the later MacGregor Register (Queensland Museum 1915-2001). The list is based on Official collection objects reregistered between MAC1 and MAC6314 during the period 1915 and 1919. Table 5 shows how the secondary registration process has corrupted elements of the locality data associated with the Official collection, some of which has been since transferred to the QM database (Vernon).

While some discrepancies are the product of simple errors, others appear to have occurred because museum staff in the early twentieth century confused museum labelling for forms applied in British New Guinea (see Davies et al., 2022). A proportion of the discrepancies represent attributions made by curatorial staff after 1966.

Around 160 items in Table 5 comprise objects which are attributed to a single collecting event: Tugeri (Marind-Anim) Raiders Camp, Wassi Kussa River, May 1896. The attribution of this material occurred from 1968 and has been added to the MacGregor Register (Queensland Museum 1915-2001) as pencilled annotations in various forms (e.g., Tugeri (Marind) Raiders Camp, Wassi Kussa River; Tugeri, Wassi Kussa River). These are noted throughout Table 5 as “Tugeri (attribution)”. It should be noted in this context that the Tugeri attributions which are noted in Table 5 do not necessarily reflect what appears in the Vernon database for MAC1-6314 because there are significant disparities between register annotations and database records. Moreover, neither record makes reference to the fact that the material is ‘attributed’ to the 1896 collecting event. This omission has been rectified in the Master List (Table 1, Appendix 2 in Davies et al. 2022) so that it is now possible to easily identify all the Tugeri attributed material (1566 items between MAC1-9817) in order that museum records can be updated in the future.

No attempt has been made to check the locality data recorded during the second phase of reregistration of the Official collection which occurred in the QM between 1966 and 2001. The Master List, however, may be used to check the accuracy of entries in the MacGregor Register (Queensland Museum 1915-2001).

SYMBOLS AND ABBREVIATIONS USED IN TABLE 5

X refers to the existence of a locality discrepancy between the primary and secondary registration record;

* indicates that a label exists which confirms what is recorded in the MacGregor Register (Queensland Museum 1915-2001). The label concerned represents one applied in BNG not in the QM.

MQ = Michael Quinnell (Curator of Anthropology, Queensland Museum 1968-2008);

Illidge = Rowland Illidge who was responsible for registering Official collection material into the MacGregor Register between 1918 and 1919 (i.e., MAC150-6314).

MAC	5136	19268	74	Sink fish trap	Fly R	X	Fly R in old register and MacGregor Register but MQ attributed to Milne Bay Province. Attribution is perhaps based on field label made from a notebook cover which reads 'His Excellency The Lieutenant-Governor, Samarai, British New Guinea'. It should be noted, however, that there was a village called 'Samari' on Kiwai Island (Fly River) so locality Fly R could be correct

MAC	5137	10915	46	Bag net	Upper Fly R	X	Fly R in old register and MacGregor Register but MQ attributed to Milne Bay Province

MAC	5763	19353	74	Axe head, & mount as before	Collingwood B	X	MacGregor Register entry matches data for 19353 but a label: Cape Nelson. N.E.C of B.N.G. 25.5.98 is said to be on object
MAC	5770	12026	52	Axe mount with blade	?	X	Cloudy Bay ? In MacGregor Register does not correspond with 1894 register entry

MAC	5779	9041	46	Stone Adze head only		X	MacGregor Register gives Misima [?] Village as locality for MAC5779 (9041). This appears to be incorrect and seems to belong to 9042 not 9041.

MAC	5881				Mambare River 24/10/95	X	MAC5881 amalgamated with MAC5824. Not part of MAC4048 as old number is 16226 not 16220 as read by Illidge
MAC	5893	9034	46	Stone Adze	Collingwood Bay	X	Mailu in MacGregor Register crossed through. Illidge misread reg. no. hence discrepancy
MAC	5899	9042	46	Stone Adze	Misina Village Collingwood Bay (written in pencil - deVis? annotation)	X	Collingwood Bay in MacGregor Register

MAC	5912	9548	46	Axe		X	Ilidge entry corresponds with 1892 register entry but object found to be labelled Rigo (this later added to MacGregor Register)
MAC	5927	9545	46	Stone Adze		X	Rigo added later to MacGregor Register ; but this is possibly based on "Rigo" on serrated label (label applied by QM during duplicate selection process in 1897)
MAC	5937	16196	60	Adze	Moni Valley	*	Moni in MacGregor Register corresponds with what is written on object
MAC	5958	?11927	52			X	Aroma in MacGregor Register incorrect. MAC5958 previously thought to be 11927 (see Vernon) but MacGregor Register entry for MAC5958 reads "?11927". Therefore MAC5958 probably belongs to another currency axe (cf. 11931), hence locality discrepancy
