

Making a cultural gift to the Queensland Museum Network

Thank you for considering the Queensland Museum Network as a recipient of your benevolence.

As your support is important to us, we would like to meet with you to discuss your gift intention personally. This ensures that both parties have an understanding of the gift intention so that your wishes are carried out correctly.

Gifts made to the Queensland Museum Network are directed to the Queensland Museum Foundation – a charitable trust that has been established for the sole purpose of financially supporting all programs and services conducted under the aegis of the Queensland Museum Network.

The Queensland Museum Network is pleased to accept items for its collections on the following conditions:

1. All donations are considered to be outright and unconditional gifts to the Museum, without restrictions as to use or disposition.
2. Items are accepted into the Queensland Museum Network's collection to be conserved and studied as part of Queensland's heritage. Subject to the Queensland Museum Network's exhibition program, all items in the collection have the potential for display, but none are displayed permanently.
3. The Queensland Museum Network will not knowingly acquire any item, which has been stolen, illegally exported from its country of origin, or illegally removed from an historic or archaeological site. The donor's signature on the Gift Agreement form certifies that the donor has the legal capacity to transfer the donation to the Queensland Museum Network.
4. Loans are accepted for definite time periods and for specific purposes, such as a programmed display, to allow consideration of the object as a possible donation, or for identification.
5. Some donations may be tax deductible under the Commonwealth Government's Cultural Gifts Program. Items, which fall into this category, need to be assessed by two approved valuers at the owner's expense. Further information about this program is available from the Queensland Museum Network.
